

Fact Sheet: Movie Industry Revenue Data

Introduction

This data offers a deep insight into the monetary performance of various movies. It sheds light on the worldwide, domestic, and overseas revenue of different films, whilst indicating their associated production studios and the type of movies. The data spans from 1939 to 2010.

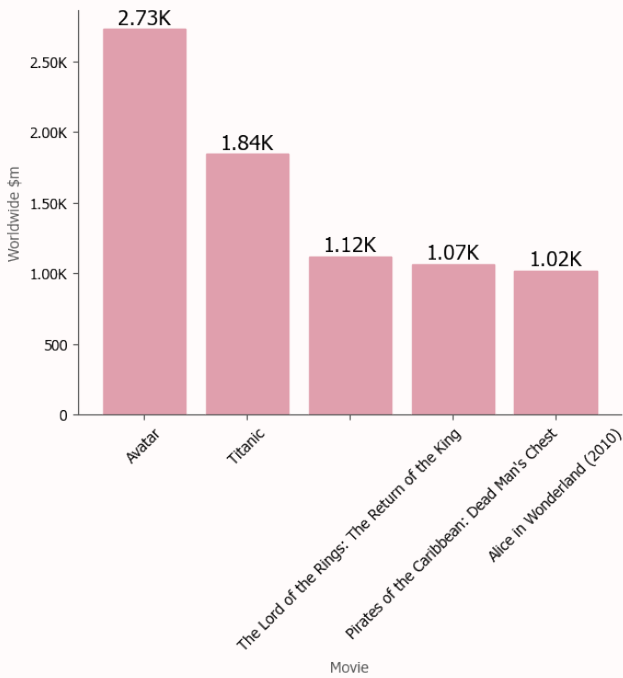

Top Ranking Movies

We start by examining the highest grossing movies and the most profitable production studios.

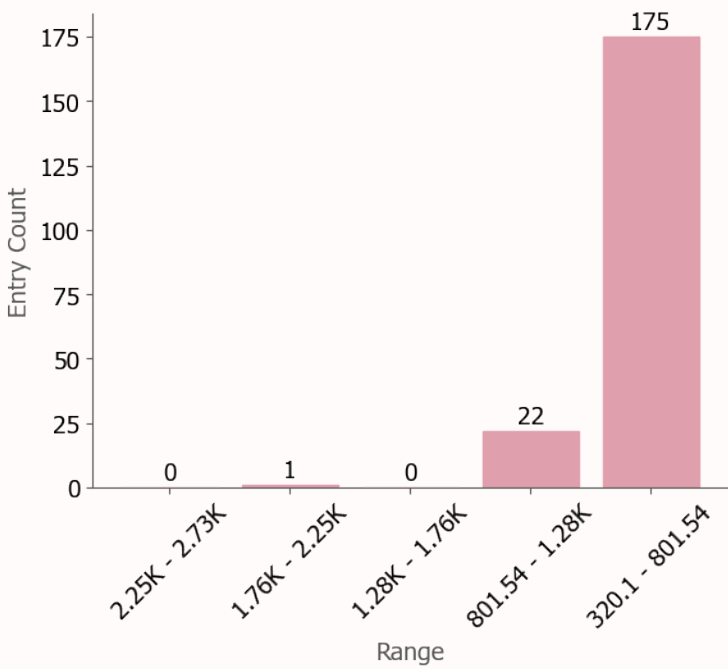

"Avatar," a drama film by Fox Studio, is notable for its outstanding worldwide revenue performance in 2009 with first 3D effects.

Top 5 Movies with Highest Worldwide Revenue

"Avatar," "Titanic," and "The Lord of the Rings" are cinema classics that broke worldwide revenue records.

Distribution of Worldwide Revenue of Movies

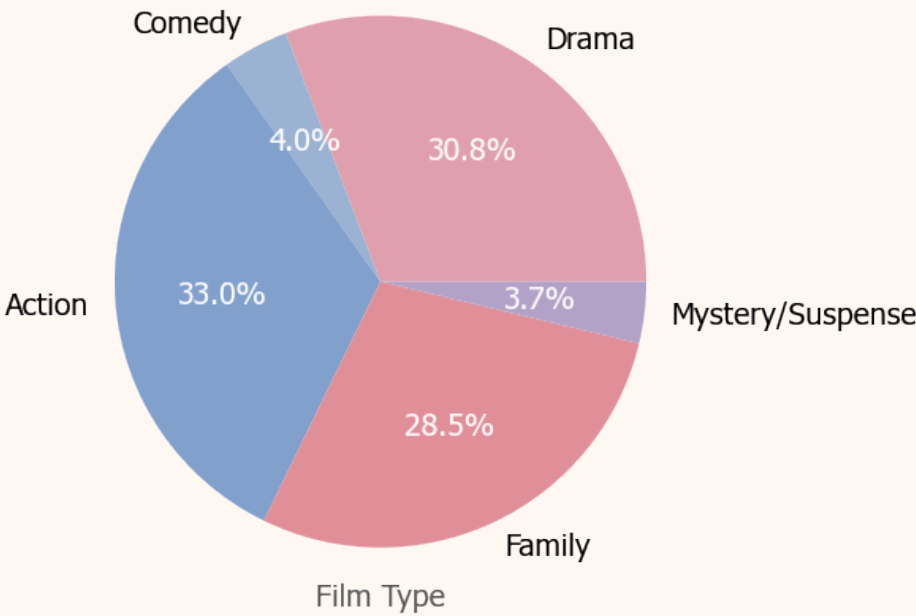

Most films generate worldwide revenue in the "320.1 - 801.54" range while others rarely surpass 2.25K (in millions $).

Revenue By Film Genre

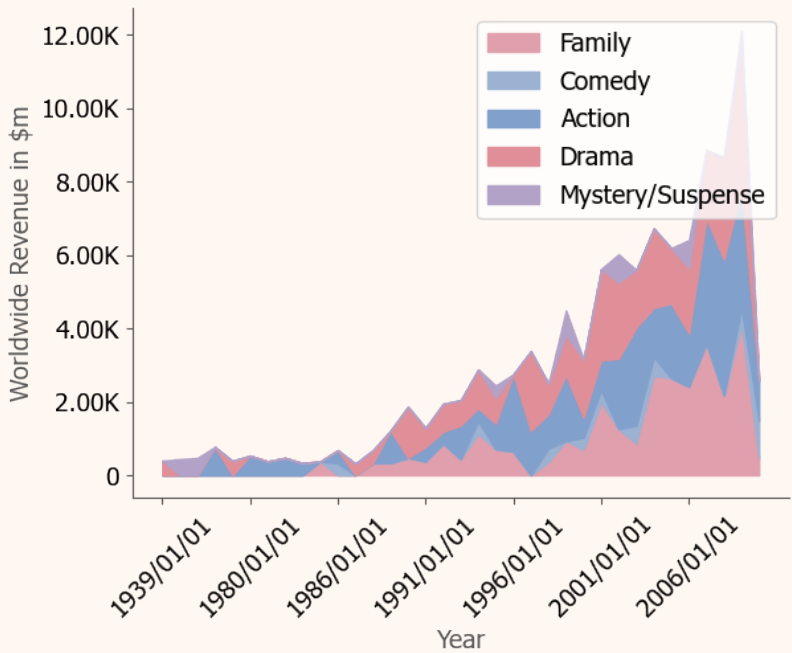

Drama and Action films often dominate the global cinema market.

Worldwide Income Distribution by Film Type

"Drama and Action films often dominate the global cinema market."

Worldwide Revenue by Film Type Over Years

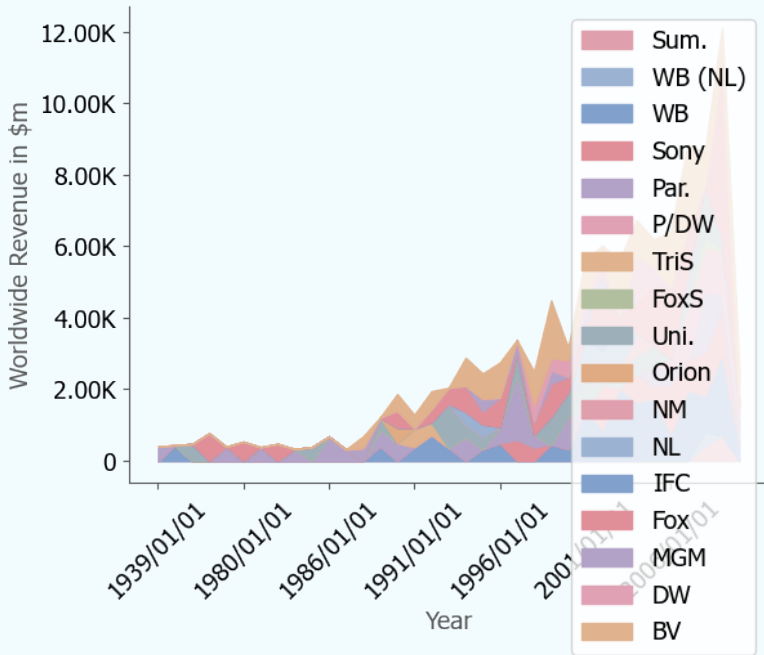

"The graph depicts the fluctuating patterns of worldwide revenue generated by films of various genres over the years. Family, drama and action movies are dominating the market."

Studio Statistics

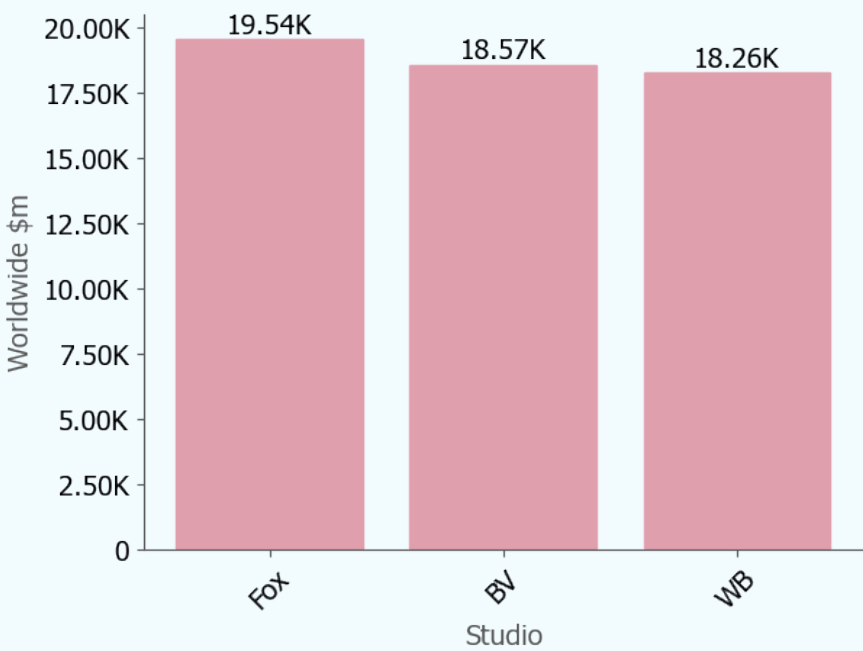

Finally, we look into different popular studio created these movies over years.

Worldwide Revenue by Studio Over Years

"The graph shows the fluctuation in worldwide revenue by different film studios over the years. But overall, the filming industry is growing."

Top 3 Studios with Highest Worldwide Revenue

Studios such as Fox, BV, and WB dominate the global film industry in terms of revenue in millions $.